Head Master

Foreward

The blessing of peace has brightened immeasurably the senior year of the members of the Class of 1946. It may well serve as a beacon light to give them courage and confidence to face the future.

Problems of monumental proportion require solution before harmonious balance can be restored to the world. Older and more experienced minds are now coping with these problems, but their ultimate and successful solution may well be brought about through the impetus supplied by the enthusiasm and vision of youth.

Judging from their whole-hearted, patriotic work in furthering the war effort, I am sure that the members of the Class of 1946 will now transfer their energy and direct their thought to these matters of national and international importance. I am confident that individually and collectively they will make an appreciable contribution.

Dedication

We, the class of 1946, dedicate our yearbook to Peace. Through all our days at school, we have been happy in the sunshine of divine favor, but never has that favor been so benignly and bountifully bestowed as in this, our senior year. For the unparalleled prosperity which has waited upon us—for the wisdom to do, the courage to dare, the patience to endure, we are thankful; for in these consists a people's life.

There comes to every nation an hour on which hang uncertain the issues of its destiny. Has it vitality to sustain the horror of conflict and the turmoil of surprise? Will it be able to merge itself into a unit for victorious onset; or will it sink, unnoticed, into obscurity and nothingness?

To America, as to all, the question came: War or Peace, Death or Life? To America the answer came; millions of voices united as one. From the granite coast of the Atlantic to the golden coast of the Pacific, the answer was the preservation of innocent life and—Peace!

Peace! the word is so meaningful to those experiencing, either actively or passively, the ruthlessness of combat. With the advent of Peace will come, also, contentment and freedom from fear. Striking off the shackles that fettered her own limbs, emerging from the thick of her deadly conflict with many a dint on her armor but with no shame on her brow, America starts on her peacetime career. War, with his helmeted brow, has given place to one fairer than Minerva; Peace, panoplied not for battle, but for tenderest ministrations to man. Wherever the red hand of War had been raised to strike, there the white hand of Peace is stretched forth to solace. The world was made for Peace. May that Peace be worth living for!

—Margaret F. Carr

Editor's Note

Friends,

On behalf of the Gothic Staff, to whom I am indebted, I wish to present this, the eighteenth volume of the Senior Annual, to the Class of 1946. Having worked diligently to produce its ideas for your benefit, the staff is delighted to be able to present a peace edition to the class. With peace came many difficulties in the production of the yearbook, but aided by the experienced and willing Miss O'Neill and the cooperation and sincere personal interest of Mr. Kelliher, the staff, working fervently to have a unique year book for a unique class, has completed its work. May I extend my appreciation to the staff, the faculty, and especially to Mr. Leary, whose inspiring guidance was gratefully received.

President's Message

Behind us lie three years, years of war and hatred—years of confusion and anguish—years which found the entire globe reaching for some sort of distant goal and finally, millions of dead bodies later, attaining that goal, the precious goal of peace! Those same three years found the young men and women in Brighton High School, studying, working, building up in mind and spirit resources which they realized would be necessary when they came to stand alone on the cloudy threshold of the impenetrable future. Yes, we, the class of "46", have had to age fast, because upon us falls the responsibility for a nation; upon us falls the responsibility of constructing and preserving the peace for which so many have sacrificed so much.

May God give us the moral courage to cling to our ideals and may He generate in us the energy to implement them by whole-hearted devotion to our fellow men. With God as our Guide, we shall move forward to the age-old sign-post whose bright, bold letters indicate our destination—the town of Happiness in a Peaceful World.

Captain Robert V. Dallahan
U. S. M. C. R.

A Tribute

A tragedy beyond compare was echoed throughout the corridors of Brighton High on November 1, 1945, when Captain Robert V. Dallahan succumbed to a chronic illness on a hero's bed at the U. S. Marine Hospital in Brighton, Massachusetts. He had died as he had lived, serving in or beyond the line of duty.

At Plattsburg Barracks, New York, on March 29, 1894, Captain Dallahan began his epic life. His military record included service with the famed 26th division in France where in 1917, he saw action in five major operations and one defensive sector.

Captain in the Infantry Reserve was the title bestowed upon him in 1929, and in 1935 he was commanding officer of the 2nd Battalion Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

Commissioned Captain U. S. M. C. R. in July, 1940, he sailed for foreign duty in September. In April 1941 he returned from overseas and retired in 1942 because of physical disability.

In honor of his fight for veteran's rights, he was presented with a magnificent sterling silver sabre by the American Legion Post and citizens of Canton, Massachusetts in token of their esteem.

In 1927, he was appointed instructor of military drill in Boston Schools and was the first Boston School employee to be called to the colors in World War II.

Coming to Brighton High on September 13, 1934, he remained in his capacity of drill instructor for more than a decade, even when in April 1943 his only son, Ensign Robert G. Dallahan, was treacherously killed in action, while serving with combat Naval Intelligence at Pearl Harbor.

Brighton High School has lost a rare man in the passing of Captain Robert Dallahan. Always displaying tireless devotion to the school, the love of working with the cadet companies and an unfaltering loyalty to what he believed was his duty as a soldier and as an instructor, the Captain was an invaluable member of our faculty. He instilled in the cadets under him a love of country and of duty to that country. He trained his junior soldiers in the responsibilities of citizenship. The boys that were under his guidance have helped to defeat our enemies in World War II. The performance of these fighting men is the only reward that the captain asked for his effort.

Captain Dallahan's name should be added to our Service Honor Roll, for he died in the line of duty, just as did far too many of his ex-cadets. The captain was often here at school when he should have been home in bed. He put his obligation to America's young men above his own personal safety. His last thoughts were for the school whose interest he, in life, stood always ready to advance.

Captain Dallahan was one of the few who worked during the years between the two great wars to make this nation prepared for any eventuality. Now, this nation has weathered the storm that he saw coming, but he is one of those who fell in its defense.

The walls of his beloved Brighton High will no longer ring with his voice, yet his spirit is here to help us carry on his work. We can best carry on for the captain by making certain, as he would have tried to do, that this nation will never again have to suffer the ravages of war. Our continued vigilance alone in the face of uncertainty will prove us worthy of the sacrifices made by this marine hero.

LABOR

Graduates

You, who forsake your Alma Mater
Marching onward toward success
Seeking honors even greater
Meriting great happiness,
You, the hopeful, graduating
From this school and taking flight,
Going forth, unhesitating,
Toward a future beckoning bright,
Ere you venture, swiftly, surely,
On your ever-ascending way,
Gaze once more upon the Tower
Staid and solemn, wise and grey.

It remembers, and stands guarding
Manly youths and maidens fair.
It observes your many actions
Though you may be unaware.
And while you are gaining power
Reaching for a brilliant star,
Staunch and straight, the Brighton Tower
Stands, recalling who you are.

HISTORY

Senior Social Life

The end of happy high-school days
Is swiftly drawing near,
But we'll remember ever more
Our joyful Senior Year.

We'll not forget our Senior play
Whose thrills were numberless,
And we'll recall our Senior prom
Which met with great success.

Our Class Day celebration
A colorful, bright scene
Was held beneath the Towers
So solemn and serene.

In leaving us fond memories
Dear Brighton High excels
And on our Graduation Day
We said our fond farewells.

Spirit of Brighton High School

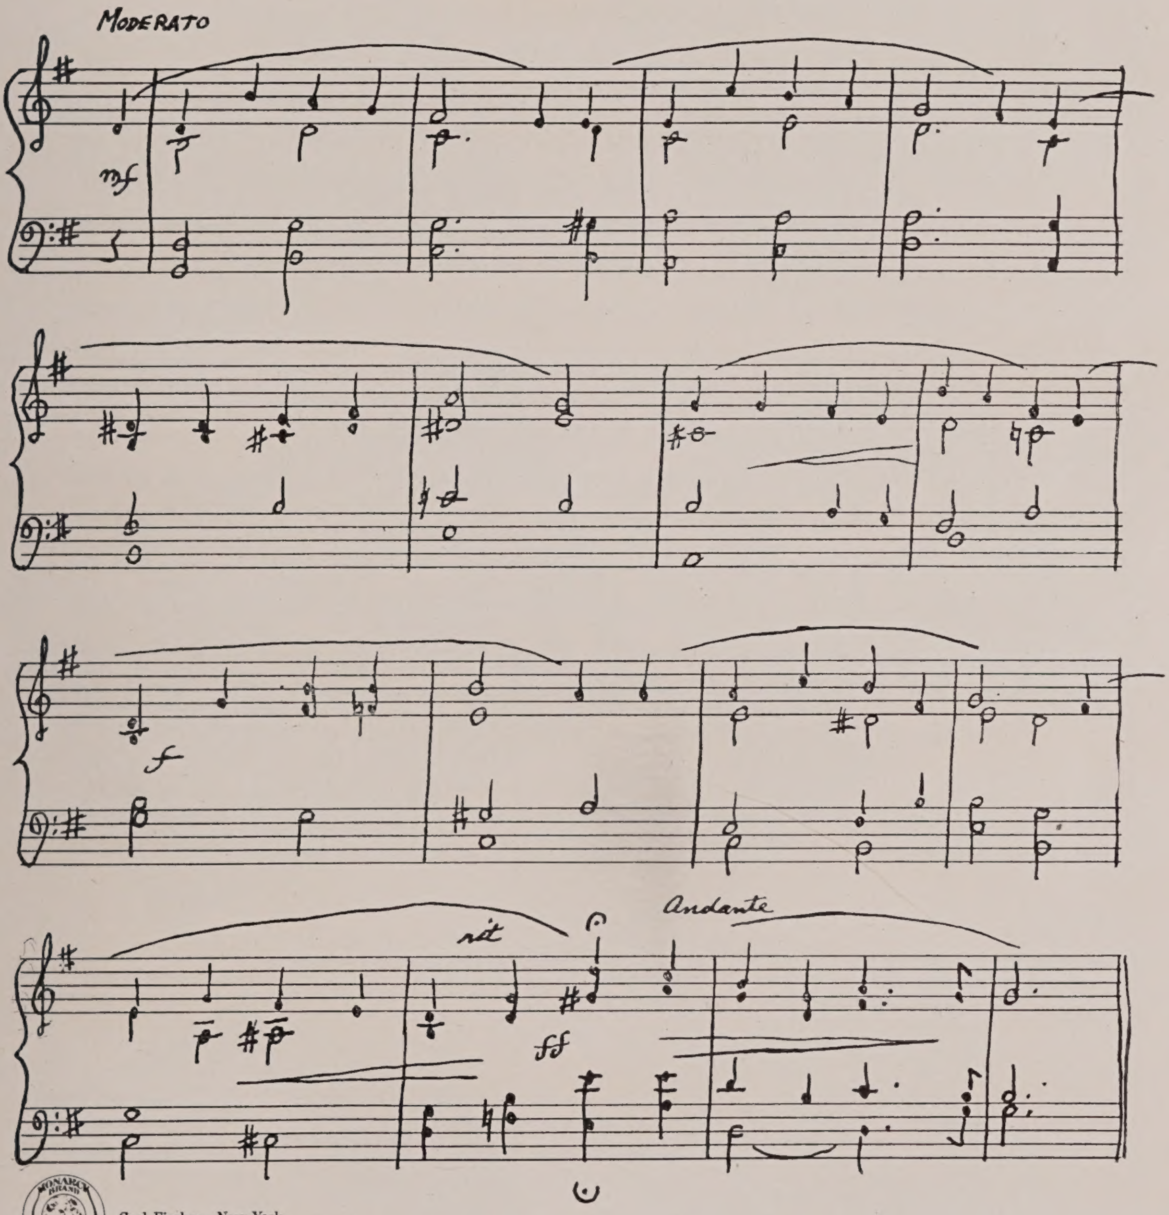
Class of 1946

Brighton High School.

Lyrics by Paul Deane

Class Song — — — — 1946

Music by Katherine Petrucci



Carl Fischer, New York.
Nr. 1a.

I.

O fairest Alma Mater,
Thy children sing thy praise,
Forever in our mem'ries
Will remain these happy days.
The time of youth is fleeting,
Our childhood days are o'er.
Though we must part from Brighton High
'Twill live forevermore.

II.

O fairest Alma Mater,
As through the years we go,
Your wisdom ever glowing
Will increase the debt we owe.
As those who've gone before us—
To conquests and to fame—
We'll strive to be as worthy
And add glory to thy name.

Talent Show

Under the capable and experienced supervision of Mr. T. Francis Burke, music director of the Boston Public Schools, Brighton High School held its second annual talent show on January 24 and 31. Consisting of thirty-five acts, the show was the result of hard-working, talented seniors, juniors, and sophomores. An enterprising junior, Martin Michlin, succeeded to the position of Master of Ceremonies. Robert Desmond, senior class president, demonstrated his versatility when he sang "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows." Accordion selections were played by Gerard Tramontozzi, piano selections by Charlotte Busny and Barbara Hughes, and a violin solo by Midhart Serbagi. The Morin sisters, Pat and Claire, and Robert McGrath displayed their prowess by dancing. These performances saw the first appearance of the Boys' Glee Club. Another unprecedented pleasure was the formation of a Jazz Orchestra on Brighton High School's stage. In a brother and sister act, Mary and John Berardi sang "Lily Bell." Hope Stevenson in one of the best acts sang and frolicked to "You Can Always Tell the Irish." Other members of this great cast were Catherine Petrucci, Norman Cohen, Martha Campbell, Rebecca Pappas, Wilma Saunders, Winifred Johnston, Helen Dennihey, and the incomparable Mildred DeMarco. The show was truly a notable success, and in years to come the students of Brighton High School will have to exert great efforts in order to carry on this new tradition of the Castle on the Hill.

Class Poem

Standing poised upon thy threshold,
Facing paths with promise bright,
Half exultantly, half sadly,
Readying for joyous flight,
Brighton, our farewell to thee
Speaks our love and loyalty,
As, with Freedom's flag unfurled,
Forth we go to shape One World.

Oft shall grateful hearts recall
Scenes familiar, loved by all,
Where proud Wisdom and high Truth
Led aright our questing youth.

Challenged by a world of sorrow,
Unafraid, we face the morrow,
Pledged to struggle for the good
Of universal brotherhood.

In our hands, untried yet strong,
Lies the power to conquer wrong;
And our task will not be done
Until all nations work as one.

Though we part for varied work,
Nurse, mechanic, student, clerk,
Our steadfast goal shall ever be
One World for all, with all men free.

Where honest men of every race
And creed and color shall find a place,
Building a great world symphony
Of universal harmony.

God of our fathers, help us still
To do Thy work, to know Thy will,
Till peace and plenty shall abound;
No want, no fear, the wide world round.

Standing poised upon thy threshold,
Valiant hearts made strong in truth,
Schooled by thee for high endeavor,
Here we consecrate our youth
To the urgent task before us:
And, remembering thy fair fame,
We shall come, beloved Brighton,
With new garlands for thy name.

The Senior Play

On May 3, 1946 the Brighton High school seniors presented their exciting farce "Volunteer Bride" and celebrated the occasion with a raving success that amazed the audience and made proud their friends. Under the capable, energetic, and inspiring direction of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Burnham, the pupils struggled diligently for the inevitable success that became theirs. As usual Mr. Barry assumed and discharged the financial duties in fine manner. Behind the scene credit went to our loyal prompters and stage manager.

Senior Promenade

On May 24, 1946, the social life of our senior year culminated in the long-awaited Senior Promenade at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge. For weeks the senior imaginations had been stimulated by the exciting posters displayed about the school, but on that romantic, eventful spring night all our expectations were realized.

The fair ladies from the "Castle on the Hill" were resplendent in their beautiful gowns and the sweet music by Baron Hugo's orchestra kept us dancing all night. A collation of punch, cake, and ice cream refreshed us at just the right time, and then we returned to dancing with renewed vigor. Our popular president, Robert Desmond, very ably led the Grand March with his lovely guest.

A Balloon Dance, an Elimination Dance, and a Spot Dance were the feature novelties of the occasion. Prizes were given to the winners of these dances. Paul Robsham, voted best dancer of the class, was there with his partner, Joyce Loring. Patricia Morin, our best girl dancer, was there also with her mystery man.

The faculty pleased us with their graceful ballroom ability. Mr. Joseph Leary, Miss Elizabeth O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Brigham, Mr. Kelliher, and Mr. Gibbons all proved that they could match our youthful vitality on the dance floor.

At the close of the Farewell Waltz, dedicated to our Head Master, the night's activities were just beginning for many of us, but the unanimous decision was that this had been the happiest event of our senior year. The Executive Committee: Catherine Dunlap, Edith Dyson, and S. Stephen Steeves, Chairman, wish to thank all who helped to make our Prom a success. Our heartfelt gratitude goes especially to Mr. Fuller for his hard work on our behalf. We know that this will be one of our fondest memories in years to come.

S. Stephen Steeves,
Chairman of Executive Committee

Class Day

Class Day, the most beautiful and most gratifying day of the year's activities, will long be remembered by the class of 1946.

Once more, the traditional ceremonies took place on the terrace, in the auditorium, and in the gymnasium.

TERRACE

Robed in white, Ruth Trullson, sitting in the place of honor before the great oak doors of the school, represented the Spirit of Brighton High School.

The herald, Paul Deane, stepped forward to deliver the following address:

I. Hear ye! Parents and comrades! We, the Class of 1946, gladly welcome you on this our festive day. For three happy years, Brighton High School has been our Alma Mater. Now we stand at the open door, ready to leave her sheltering walls for the great adventure of life. Ere we say a courageous "All Hail" to the unknown future, we pause for a sad and grateful farewell to our loved school.

II. Let the Representatives of the Juniors, who will so soon move forward into our places, now join the Seniors in singing "Hail, Dear Alma Mater," in tribute to Brighton High School.

III. Some among us merit special recognition for high scholastic achievement which brings them well deserved rewards, and reflects honor on their school.

1. Let the winner of the Anna Judson George Scholarship for excellence in English receive from the Spirit of our Alma Mater the symbol of victory.

2. Let the winners of the Brighthelmstone Club Scholarships receive the meed of their intellectual conquests from the Spirit of Brighton High School.

3. Let the Senior and Junior Honor students unite in placing the laurels of their attainments at the feet of their Alma Mater.

4a. We now bestow praise on a member of the Senior Class, Fred Dunlap, who has been conspicuous during the year in promoting Brighton High School spirit in athletics, both in school and on the field, and who has been personally faithful, honorable and reliable.

Let him come forward and receive a medal which betokens his accomplishment.

4b. We now commend a girl of the Senior Class, Doris Maclone, who has won distinction in the course in Physical Education for girls.

4c. We also commend a boy of the Senior Class, Paul Robsham, who has won distinction in the course in Physical Education for boys.

5. To one school are we loyal, and in our loyalty we are united. But we are "many members of one body." Our various courses give opportunity for the full development of various powers.

Let a representative of our Cooperative Course, Nicholas T. Geso, appear, to pay homage to our Alma Mater.

Let next a member of our Commercial Course, June Crossen, render grateful acknowledgement to her Alma Mater.

To these two let there be joined one from our College Course, Barbara Mahoney, that together all three may show honor to Brighton High School, and receive the medals which shall memorialize their splendid ideals, their loyalty, and their integrity in which Alma Mater may justly take pride.

IV. Ere we move out into the ranks of the Alumni, we transmit to our successors certain privileges and responsibilities which we have gladly and faithfully held during our Senior Year. We relinquish these offices to our junior comrades with the hope that they may regard them as opportunities for serving their school, and, in filling them, add fresh glories to the name of Brighton High School.

1. Let the President of the Senior Class, Robert Desmond, invest the President of our Junior Class with the insignia of his office.

2. Let the President of the Student Council, Doris Young, transmit to the Junior officer the symbol of her authority.

3. Let the Editors of the "Brighton Towers" Paul Deane and Robert Desmond pass on to their successor the tokens of their high office.

V. Now shall the Chief Marshal, Wilma Saunders, escort into the presence of the Spirit our Head Master, Mr. Joseph A. Leary, that he may there receive as a perpetual memorial to the Class of 1946 the gift of our year book resplendent in its white and gold colors from the editor, George DePasca.

VI. Let our Head Master present to the Spirit of Brighton High School the medal which shall ever be to her a memento of this most felicitous occasion.

VII. Let the Chief Marshal now receive from her Alma Mater a medal which shall keep in her remembrance this eventful day.

VIII. The Spirit shall here bestow upon the Herald a token emblematic of his place of honor in this ceremony.

IX. Let the Senior color bearers, Evan Neuhoff, Joseph Hamelburg, attended by the Senior color guards, Fred Dunlap, Frank Knight, led by Arthur Oberton, transmit guardianship of the National, State, and School colors to the Junior color bearers, John Strickland, Ernest Gumm, attended by the Junior color guards, Joseph Caruso and Ray Stephens, led by Christos Chronopoulos.

X. Let the Seniors now march forth as Lawrence Carbonaro dedicates the Class Tree, which, as its spreading branches add beauty to the noble terraces of their Alma Mater, shall become an ever glorious and living symbol of the enduring loyalty of the Class of 1946 to Brighton High School.

Class Oration

Class Orator, Barbara Malouin

We, the class of 1946, are the first in five years to graduate into a world of peace. Our brothers, fathers, sisters, and loved ones fought and died that we might have this honor.

Since the year 1942, our classmates before us opened the door of adulthood with fear in their hearts. They stepped into an era of tragedy. Their hopes and dreams were shattered by the reality of a gigantic war; not their war by desire, but their war to fight in the hope of ending all war. They could not allow themselves to consider the cherished dreams that, in normal times, every high-school senior holds dear. They could not imagine themselves the carefree youngsters of high school age. They could not, because they were not. They graduated as men and women, not as boys and girls. Perhaps they matured too fast; not because they wished to, but because the exigencies of the time robbed them of their youth.

Surely, they have laid a great foundation. They have, with the inspiration of their predecessors, accomplished the task they so ardently strove to accomplish. They have brought world peace. It is for us to keep a world peace.

We, no longer seniors, but graduates, are young in years, but we are not so young that we cannot realize our responsibilities regarding our nation and its welfare. It is we, the youth of today, who will govern America's tomorrow. It is we, the young high school graduates, who will determine what the world's future holds. It is for us to keep the peace; it is for us to show the world that the four freedoms, freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from fear, and freedom from want are inalienable rights. We have been taught the American way of life. It is the best way. It is ours. We never want to lose it, and we never will lose it as long as we have the power, not of guns and tanks but the power of love over hate, the power of right over wrong.

We have been called "the lost generation". This name was bestowed on us because of the war, and its drastic consequences—lack of employment, the rise of delinquents and racketeers, and subsequent evil influences. But we are not a "lost generation." We are unafraid and are willing to do our work until the world is satisfied with our efforts.

We must be alert to the life ahead of us, whether it be in an institution of higher learning, in the business world, in a domestic career, or in the service of our country.

Even though we shall walk on the streets of a nation at peace we still will have many troublesome problems to face. For those of us who plan to enter colleges and universities there are many uncertain times ahead. Thousands of returned and returning veterans have well-deserved preferences at these institutions. In the business world, also, the veteran is the first choice. What is to become of the young graduate who will not be accepted in college, or who is unable to find employment? Only the future holds the answer to this question. But in the meantime, we will prove that we are capable of facing life's hazards.

We say we are brave and strong. We say we can conquer what misfortunes life may present to us in later years. We are determined to live as we have always dreamed, a life free from the horrors of war.

With what authority do we deem ourselves capable of making these statements? Surely our word alone is not sufficient. Our assertion is more than just a phrase. It is confidence. It is faith—faith in our friends, our teachers, our parents, and our country. In them do we believe; their advice we respect; and from them we have learned to trust in ourselves, to know our own worth, yet to acknowledge our own helplessness without the greatest faith of all—faith in God, our Creator.

Because we maintain this faith, we know that justice will prevail, and that we will cherish everlastingly the American way of life. "Fundamentum autem est iustitiae fides"—Good faith is the foundation of justice.

Class History

Arlene Lewis, Class Historian

Once upon a time, we, like the fabled Alice, gazed through a looking-glass into a strange Wonderland. The pall of war was about us, and we approached our duties in all seriousness.

Confused, we turned to see upper classmen bustling about. All but us were familiar with the surroundings. We were eager to see what was beyond the looking-glass. Timidly we stepped into this bewildering, fascinating dwelling, and this is our tale.

All too quickly we learned that sophomores were mere babies to the older classes. After enjoying the exalted position of the highest class in Junior High, this was indeed a wound to our pride. We decided then and there that we must win admiration from the inhabitants of this, our new home.

Our resolution was more easily stated than accomplished. Slow to learn the rules of the school, many of us thrust our fingers into the fire to see if it really burned; only our fire was the flame of misdemeanors, and the burn was detention. Many here today are still nursing their wounds, and still more bear scars.

There was, however, a brighter side to our life. We were a determined group, and despite the hectic, humble existence we led, we regained our self-assurance when we surpassed the juniors and seniors in numerous activities.

During the early part of October, it became apparent that the weaker sex, like Rome, could not be built up in a day. Brighton High's young ladies were definitely not at their best. Their echoing groans and sighs were not, as might be expected, due to Frank Sinatra, but to their muscular aches and pains, caused by the government's newly inaugurated physical education program. Sitting here are the veterans and gallant survivors who have been honorably discharged from aching service.

In April, Mr. Tully returned from the Armed Forces to spread his ever-ready wit and humor.

In June, when we left for our annual respite, the "Castle on the Hill" was standing boldly against the blue sky, waiting, we hoped, with fond anticipation for our return.

September of '44, with a quick step of assurance, we returned to continue our exploration, and to pursue the course marked "Juniors Only". We noticed that two of our instructors were absent: Miss Burke, who had enlisted in the Coast Guard, and Miss Creedon, who had volunteered to serve at the U. S. O. Waiting to listen to our numerous complaints, with the ever-ready thermometer, and all time favorite, bicarbonate of soda, was not Mrs. Goulding, but Mrs. O'Dwyer.

To the wide-eyed wonderment of all, our Milky Way twinkled with numerous stars, and unknown accomplishments were discovered. The result was a Talent Show, which met with great popularity.

Maintaining a firm stand for equal rights were the MEN of Brighton High, who announced joyfully that from then on the Girls' Glee Club would have competition from others beside the audience. At present the girls in this activity outnumber the boys by the slight majority of ten to one.

Not to be outdone by our elder schoolmates, the seniors, the up and coming juniors plunged into that civil warfare commonly known as Class Elections. The chosen officers were: President, Bob Desmond; Vice President, Norma Mortimer; Secretary, Patricia Stevens. Our finances were left to Treasurer Stephen Pappas, who asserted that "honesty was his policy".

April 12 marked the passing of our great leader, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. This world-wide catastrophe was deeply felt and universally mourned.

Spring introduced the Athletic Club, whose activities consisted of golf, tennis, and soft ball.

In May, we eagerly attended the Senior Play, A Woman of Fifteen. It was excellent! We left with the comforting and gratifying feeling that the next presentation would be our own.

In September of '45, the second month of peace on earth, we re-entered our "Castle on the Hill". Old friendships renewed, new friendships made, and at long last we were seniors!

For the greater part of the year, the Class of '46 suffered from Senioritis, better known as "inflated ego". Paradoxically, the chief sufferers from this contagious disease were not those afflicted by it, but the unfortunate juniors and sophomores.

Early in the year, Miss Creedon returned to resume her place among the teaching staff, while Miss Rockwood departed from our midst to take over her appointment as the head of the English Department at South Boston High School.

In the annual Hearst History Contest, Howard Miskin won 16th prize. Also receiving honor, but in a far different field, was Edess Sherwin, who was elected to receive the Good Citizenship Award.

Archaeologists exploring the lower depths of the assembly hall came upon a colony of weird creatures who claimed that they were members of the Class of '46, and were directed there in September of '43 by charitable upper classmen; they have been waiting for class to begin ever since.

Fall ushered in the football season. Brighton High's brothers and sisters, from the lowly sophomore to the mighty senior, stood united in one common cause,— Victory over South Boston. Captain Renard Romano and his team were inspired to frequent victory by cheerleaders Marilyn Jenkins, Linda Vienneau, Jean Ford, Jean Murphy, June Crossen, Margaret DiStefano, Doris Young, Poppy Apidianakis, Melanie deJony, Ann Centola, and Geraldine Sullivan.

Installed in our lunchroom was a cafeteria which at first was characterized by serious congestion. There just wasn't time enough in one lunch period for all of us to be fed! Had Mr. Leary not devised a more efficient system, we all, most certainly, would have died from malnutrition and frustration before the Christmas vacation. We are here today, well-fed and happy, a living testimony to Mr. Leary's ingenuity.

In November, Brighton High suffered the loss of its beloved friend and Drill Master, Captain Dallahan. Memories of his many kindnesses to us will always linger with us.

Those who overheard a conversation, the subject of which seemed to be "strikes", might suspect that we were starting a successful union. Actually, they just heard the innocent hopes of members of the bowling club.

Walking out of school with broad grins on their faces were the fortunate group who belong to the very popular swimming club. To belong to this club, one was prepared to make the supreme sacrifice of losing the sixth period.

Because of the surprising number of casualties on the ice-covered slope leading to the entrance of B. H. S. during the past winter, legislation is now in the making for the importation of Swiss mountaineers to assist the pupils in the perilous ascent. An intensive course in yodeling will be given to one and all.

At the termination of the Christmas vacation, Miss O'Neill returned to her eager flock after a lengthy three months' absence.

In January, all precedents were broken. Stepping forth for a successful re-election were President Robert Desmond, Vice President Norma Mortimer, and Secretary Patricia Stevens. All valuables were entrusted to the loving care of Buddy Hamelburg. The Executive Committee threesome was Edith Dyson, Catherine Dunlap, and Stephen Steeves. Holding the office of Class Orator is Barbara Malouin; the Class Historian, your poor man's Plutarch is Arlene Lewis. Chief Marshall Wilma Saunders was selected to lead Marshals Virginia Dikmak, Marilyn Fay, Margaret DiStefano, Eleanor O'Connell, Theresa Roubian, John Cloran, Fred Dunlap, and Edward McManus.

Because of the war, plans of the late Mr. Rich and Mr. Leary for the yearly alumni reunion were postponed. On January 23 their project was realized. Under the direction of graduates Daniel Rufo and Peter Cloherty, the first alumni banquet was held in the gymnasium. We are sure that many more will follow.

May 3 was opening night of Volunteer Bride. This long anticipated occasion fulfilled our every expectation. We are forever grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Burnham for their unsurpassable coaching. Had this been a movie instead of a play, we feel confident that the Oscar would not have gone to Ray Milland, who is still in search of his Lost Weekend.

On May 24 the Hotel Continental was host to the Senior Prom. Thanks to the timely surrender of the Japanese, our Prom had a double significance. The acute man shortage had come to a welcome end. The girls returned their younger brothers to the primary grades, and came on the arms of BONA FIDE—MEN! No more last minute admonitions were heard from anxious mothers, "See here, young lady, I want Junior home by 10:30, and mind you, not more than one Coca Cola!"

The protective gates of Brighton High School are now flung open to a world suffused with a glow of peace. Beyond is the road of life leading to the unknown. We leave as free-thinking individuals with a determination to uphold our way of life, and to follow our separate destinies, always guided by the high ideals instilled in us at our beloved "Castle on the Hill".

Senior Outing

'Tis June, 'tis June the month of roses. June the month of memories. June with its sunshine, its warmth, its gayety and laughter. Not the least of the happy June days is June 10, the day of the class outing.

Early shoppers from Brighton mixed with eager high school pupils on their way through to the city, to a class outing held at Nantasket. Jokes, songs, and festive spirits were the order of the day as we wished the street car would go faster. We scrambled across India Wharf, and impatiently awaited the boat's departure.

Perhaps in the days to come, the trip on the boat will be best remembered. Those who were regular sea-dogs strode fearlessly up to the top deck to find their places in the sun. Camera fiends seemed to sneak up at the most inopportune moments. Little groups, those unfortunates who could not find chairs, stood at the rail viewing the wide expanse of sea and chatting gaily of the class day that had passed, the graduation that had gone, and the outing that was to come.

Sounds of music floated up from the lower deck, where boys and girls swaying to smooth syncopation changed into expert jitterbugs. The rolling of the boat affected their activity very little.

At last we docked. A few ambitious creatures ran almost all the way to the Chateau Ballroom. Others, less ambitious, took their time, inhaling the soft sea breezes. After rushing around to find tables, the business of eating began. Those who had not had enough dancing on the boat took this opportunity to get in the groove once more. Those who could not decide whether to dance or eat did both at once. One hand held a partner; the other, a sandwich.

The bowling alleys were the next stop. Boasts were made. Some were fulfilled; some were not. Naturally it was the ball's fault, not the bowler's, if the pins remained in an upright position.

A game on the beach followed. The faculty proved to be adept at wielding the "ole" baseball bat. Balls flew through the air, landed with a dull thud in a catcher's mitt, and put out either student or a teacher.

A swim was definitely needed after such strenuous exercise. The water was not any too warm but the cold water helped to make the plunge more exciting.

At length, the crowd moved on to Paragon Park. Should we ride on the merry-go-round or the roller coaster first? We decided to save the roller coaster until the last, since it would be the best of all. We had fun crashing into each other in our little cars. The airplane ride was enjoyed by everyone. Many bruises had to be nursed after the slides in the fun house. Finally the roller coaster we had been anticipating all along. With what screams we crashed down into the darkness. How tightly we held on to that rod. What a ride!

Slightly out of breath, we proceeded on to the roller skating rink. The smooth floor and fast music invited us to secure our skates quickly. Then off we went, round and round.

After an hour or so, we turned in our skates, and started down the boardwalk, to get a table for supper. Lunch boxes were again brought forth. Jokes and funny stories of the day's pleasures traveled from table to table.

The sun got lower and lower. It was time to go back to the boat. The soft lapping of the water against the side of the boat lulled a few weary ones to sleep. It was only for a short snooze, though, because not one moment of an eventful day could be missed.

The boat docked again and we went home to dream of the happy, never-to-be-forgotten 1946 class outing.

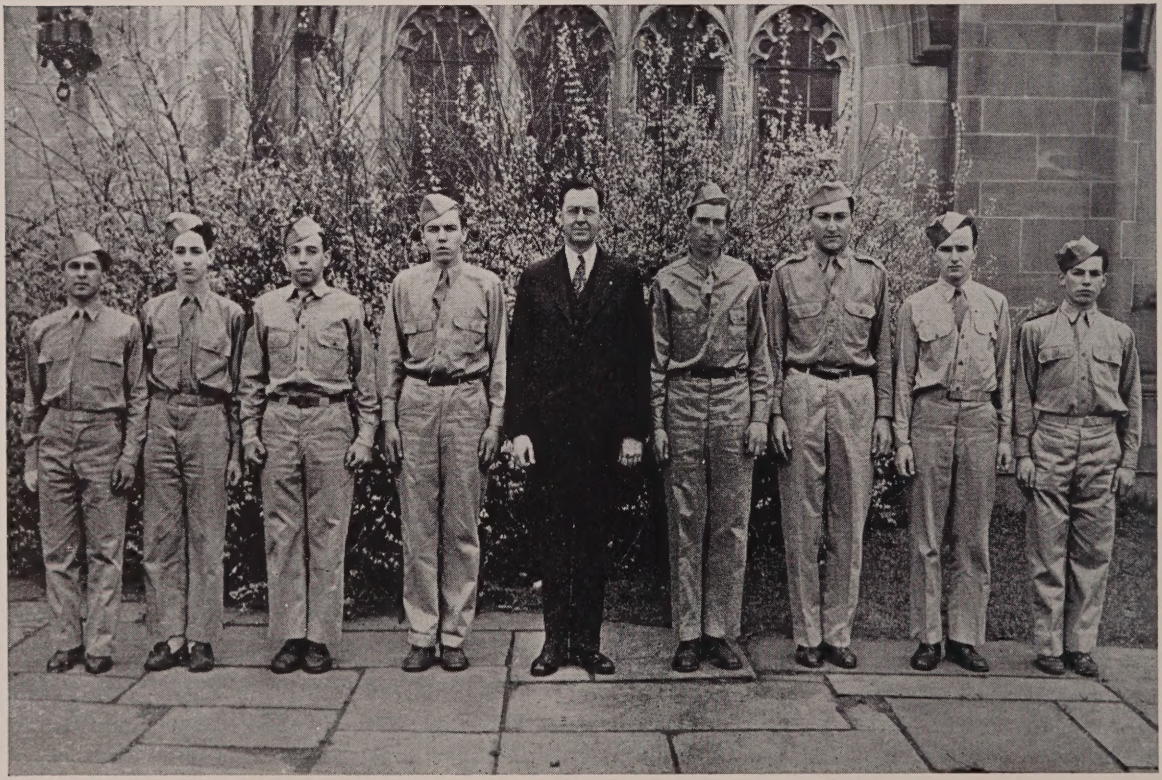
Regimental Drill

directed by

Capt. John A. V. Murray



With peace once more reigning over us, six unrivaled companies in the City of Boston performed on Drill Day at Brighton High School.

Under the skilled leadership of Captain Murray, recently returned from battle, these six companies became one of the finest regiments this school has ever witnessed.

On May third the regimental competition was held in the school yard. Not only did the companies compete for the coveted prizes with enthusiasm under their popular captains but the spectators cheered their favorites.

The band thrilled everyone that beautiful May morning as the sun shone on the sparkling brass instruments. James Britt, Captain of the gallant band, with his manly stride and rhythmic step made his leadership contagious.

Paul Robsham infused his own fighting spirit into the companies as he led out the Drum and Bugle Corps.

After the competition had finished, the judges awarded prizes with a fairness acclaimed by all.

Brighton Towers

For the first time in four years, Brighton Towers, the magazine of Brighton High School, was a peace time publication this year. Editorials, essays, articles, and stories throughout the year dealt with the war's end and with the problems of coming peace. A marked note of frivolity and relief from the tension of war was manifest on every page.

In spite of the fact that the war was over, many Brighton High School alumni were still in the armed forces; many were with the armies of occupation. Copies of the magazine were sent to as many B.H.S. servicemen as possible, and it is the sincere hope of the entire staff that as much enjoyment was derived from receiving them as was felt in sending them.

The Towers was published every two months. The staff, consisting of students chosen for their literary ability and initiative, composed a large part of the content, but contributions were accepted from everyone in the school. From the members of the faculty, who gave invaluable assistance, to each staff member, everyone worked to make Brighton Towers one of the best high school publications ever produced.

Brighton Drum and Bugle Corps

The conclusion of another year finds that the Brighton Drum and Bugle Corps has not failed to measure up to the high standard of excellence set by its predecessors. The success of the Corps is attributable to the co-operation of its members, to the guidance of Mr. Dowell and to the efficient instruction of Mr. Calabro, Mr. Leitsinger and Mr. Gardner.

The work has been intensive, but never onerous. Conscious of their constant progress, the members of the Corps found the work interesting and pleasant.

On Prize Drill Day the Corps gave a public exhibition of what it had accomplished during the year. The results were gratifying to the members themselves and to all present.

Orchestra

The Brighton High School orchestra was organized to further the appreciation of the finer types of music and to develop the natural talents of the members in solo and unison work. This year there was a satisfactory complement of brass and woodwind instruments and there was needed only a larger number of stringed instruments to effect the desired variety of compass and quality of tones.

During the rehearsals special attention was given to the recognition and understanding of musical terms. The knowledge thus acquired contributed materially to the improvement of the playing techniques of the members.

At assemblies, the senior play and Class Day the orchestra gave public demonstrations of what it had accomplished during the year. The results were most commendable and created a favorable impression on the hearers.

Special praise and thanks must be given to Mr. H. Dana Strother, the very capable assistant director of music, and to Mr. Gibbons, the faculty adviser.

The orchestra consisted of four trumpets, two trombones, two violins, five saxophones, an accordion, a clarinet and drums.

William Porter

Band

The Brighton High School Band has had a successful season in 1945-1946, with a larger enrollment than has been the case for several years past. A number of the best trained members were lost to the Band last spring by graduation or by entrance into the Armed Forces, but that loss has been partly offset by the addition of a larger number of new members, including some promising beginners.

During the year the Band has been called upon to play at certain school assemblies, as well as at the Memorial Day exercises traditionally held on the great terrace in front of the school. The Band also played its accustomed part in the ceremonies connected with Class Day, performed as usual in the Annual Prize Drill, and helped out on one or two other and special occasions. Last, but certainly not least, the Band did well in the Annual Street Parade.

As in other years, the Band met three times a week for instruction and rehearsal. On Tuesdays, there was division into groups, with excellent teaching by Mr. Gardner, instructor in charge of drums; by Mr. Patch, brass instruments; and by Mr. Barrett, woodwinds. On Thursday and Friday the Band practiced under the direction of Mr. Fortunato Sordillo, able Assistant Director of Music, aided by Mr. Leitsinger, Supervisor of Music, and by Mr. Walsh as faculty adviser

James F. Britt, Captain

Brighton High School Patrol

The Brighton High School Patrol was organized to assist in maintaining order, to promote neatness, and to create a congenial atmosphere in the lunch room.

Members of the Patrol are selected from those seniors who enjoy a reputation for reliability and have shown qualities of leadership.

Mr. Dowell and Mr. Romano have skilfully supervised the work of the Patrol. Members have been taught how to accept responsibility and to exercise prudently the authority that goes with such a trust.

Favorable comments from teachers and pupils attest the high degree of efficiency with which the Patrol functioned.

Pendant l'année 1945-1946, les séances du Cercle Français ont eu lieu tous les mois. Sous la surveillance habile de Mademoiselle Miller, notre conseillère, nous avons présenté beaucoup de petites scénettes et nous avons appris plusieurs chansons françaises. Les membres du bureau du cercle, qui ont aidé aussi à projeter les programmes, ont appris aux membres de nouveaux jeux. Comme cela, nous nous instruisions tout en nous amusant.

Surtout, nous avons toujours essayé de comprendre plus complètement et de parler plus correctement la langue de la diplomatie. Le Cercle Français a été pour nous à la fois une source d'inspiration et de plaisir. Nous sentons que les efforts que nous avons faits pour augmenter le cercle ont été récompensés par son succès.

Many profitable and happy afternoons of becoming better acquainted with authors and with literature were spent by the members of the Reading Club. These meetings were held on the third Tuesday of each month.

The highlights of the year were the special programs planned for the holidays, such as Christmas and Thanksgiving. On a Saturday in October, the members visited historic Quincy, and later in the year took a trip to Salem and Marblehead. The beautiful Gardner Museum was also visited by the Club at Easter. Everyone immensely enjoyed these outings. Many plays were performed by the girls at meetings.

On Junior Day, the final meeting, future members of the Reading Club were entertained, and refreshments were served. Only those Junior girls with honor marks in English were invited to attend.

In behalf of the Club members I wish to take this opportunity to thank both Miss Bailey and Miss Marshall for their capable supervision and their untiring efforts in making our year such a great success.

Der deutsche Verein wurde gegruendet um das Interesse der deutschen Sprache zu stimulieren, und den Gebrauch der Sprache zwischen den Schuelern zu befoerdern. Die Versammlungen fanden zweimal monatlich unter der Leitung des Frl. O'Brien statt. Waehrend der Zusammenkuenfte genossen die Mitglieder deutsche Platten, Lieder, Dialoge, Kreuzwortraetsel, Spiele und Unterhaltungen. Dadurch wurden die Versammlungen wertvoll sowohl als amuesant gemacht. Wir hoffen, dass die zukuenftigen Vereine ebensoviel Freude und Erfolg haben werden, wie wir dieses Jahr gehabt haben.

Music Appreciation Club

The first meeting of the Music Appreciation Club found the following people elected as officers:

President	ROBERT DESMOND
Vice-President	KATHERINE PETRUCCI
Secretary	DORA FORTE
Treasurer	MADELEINE MCLEAN

For those who enjoy modern and classical music, the Music Appreciation Club provided many exuberant hours during the year 1945-1946. Continuing under the competent supervision of one of the most musical minded members of the faculty, Miss Miller, the club met once a month to enjoy recordings brought in by various members, and to listen while other members displayed their musical talents. Our large membership is proof of the enthusiasm of Brighton High pupils for the masters of symphonic music.

Many unusual facts were brought to light by the instructive games played and contests held in the course of each meeting. These, and other activities, have aided in giving to our members a keener appreciation of music.

To the Music Appreciation Club of 1947, we extend a welcoming hand, and we sincerely hope that their year will be as successful as ours has been.

ROBERT DESMOND, President

Dramatic Club

With sincere gratitude and appreciation to Mr. McNamara the Dramatic Club completes one more successful year. It was only through his tireless efforts and limitless patience that obstacles were overcome in diction, expression, enunciation, and poise.

The enthusiasm displayed by all members of the club aided in the success of the Dramatic Club this year.

A thank you Mr. McNamara from each and every one of us.

The officers of this club are:

President	RONNI FELDMAN
Vice-President	JUNE KALUS
Secretary	POPPY APIDIANAKIS
Treasurer	PAULINE FITZWILLIAM
Business Manager	LORRAINE DAVIS
Sergeant-at-Arms	MARILYN JENKINS

RONNI FELDMAN, President

Girls' Glee Club

The purpose of our club is to develop within the youth of today real appreciation and enjoyment of good music. Under the very capable direction of Mr. T. Francis Burke, this has been made possible. He is a fine musician and has succeeded in discovering a great deal of talent in the school.

For the first time since 1938, we have had a Glee Club performance in the form of a Minstrel Show given by the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs combined. After the cast had rehearsed for several weeks, the curtain went up with hope and came down with success.

We seniors must now say farewell with regret to our happy Glee Club days. We shall always carry with us the memory of many delightful hours of good companionship. May all future Glee Clubs enjoy in their performances the same happiness that we have had.

Katherine Petrucci

Boys' Glee Club

This year the Boys' Glee Club had a splendid record and unparalleled popularity. Dr. Looney, who takes a keen interest in our organization, encouraged the boys to exert every effort to bring credit to Brighton High School. Under the direction of Mr. Burke, the glee club has provided the members with valuable training and much pleasure. We should like to take this occasion to express our gratitude for the encouragement, sympathy, and direction that we have been given by both Mr. Burke and Dr. Looney.

Student Council

The Student Council of Brighton High School elected as its officers for the year 1945-1946:

President	DORIS YOUNG
Vice-President	JOHN COLLINS
Secretary	JEAN FORD
Treasurer	BARBARA O'NEIL

Under the capable supervision of Miss Wilson, the faculty adviser, the Council hopes to accomplish a great deal during the coming year. Through the efforts of the Council, plans are being made to organize a swing band. The continuation of an Executive Committee, which plans the meetings, will insure a successful year. Enthusiastic members of the Council are investigating the possibilities of a teen-age canteen for high school boys and girls.

We, the members of the present Council, wish to extend to our successors our most sincere wishes for successful advancement of the Student Council.

DORIS YOUNG,
President

The Cheer Leaders

This memorable football season opened with a rally held by the cheer leaders. Clad in their striking orange and black outfits, these girls cheered faithfully and earnestly throughout the year.

Long hours of practice were devoted to the development of new cheers which expressed the girls' enthusiasm and evoked a spirited response from the spectators. Due to the vigorous efforts of the cheer leaders, Ann Centola, Linda Vienneau, June Crossen, Margaret DiStefano, Geraldine Sullivan, Jean Ford, Jean Murphy, Poppy Apidianakis, Doris Young, Melanie de Jony, and Captain Marilyn Jenkins, both the Brighton squad and rooters were spurred on to VICTORY.

SCIENCE

Althetics

Good sportsmanship has always been
The Brighton team-mates' foremost aim.
And whether our players lose or win
Fair play exists throughout the game.

With lofty Towers to inspire
And friends who hold them in esteem,
The athletes have one great desire
To go to victory with the team.

The Brighton High School pupils back
Participants in every sport.
Engaged in basketball or track
The players have a strong support.

Football, baseball, hockey, too,
Our able athletes master well.
And brilliant victories ensue
Since in all sports our teams excel.

Our Brighton High School's skillful men
Strive hard for victory, but they
Take pride in triumph only when
They gain a conquest by fair play.

Football

Eighty boys answered the first call for football. The returning senior letter men were Scimemi, Cataldo, Romano, Centola, and Dunlap. Coach Murphy was faced with the difficult task of moulding his team around this small nucleus of players. Other seniors were Burke, Kirsch, Glancy, Tobin, Pulsifer, and Wendler. Because of his outstanding playing, Peter Scimemi was chosen by Doc Mooney of the Post for his all scholastic team.

Under Coach Murphy's able guidance, the season was opened with a 13-0 victory over Vocational. Consecutive defeats by East Boston and South Boston followed. Brighton again hit the winning column by beating Jamaica Plain 7-0 and Charlestown 27-0. Our scheduled game with Hyde Park was rained out. In our last game, we suffered a 7-0 defeat by Roslindale in the last two minutes of play.

The first team lineup was:

L.E.	Ken Gillis	R.E.	Bob Kirsch
L.T.	Bob Finley	Q.B.	Bill Greene
L.G.	John Roule	R.H.B.	Fred Dunlap
C.	Dick Glancy	L.H.B.	Al Boly
R.G.	Peter Scimemi	F.B.	(Capt.) Ray Romano
R.T.	Ed Cataldo

Hockey

The Brighton hockey team of 1946, lacking in veteran players, and handicapped by practicing without ice, did not turn out a championship team, but was always in there playing till the last second or (man).

Coach Warren C. Burnham called the squad for practice shortly after Christmas. The members of the team were Captain Lefty Glancy, center; Kenny Sullivan, right wing; John Logan, left wing; Karl Pulsifer, right defense; John Kiley, left defense, and Carl Chambers, goaly.

Brighton's hockey scedule consisted of seven games; South Boston, Jamaica Plain, Charlestown, Brandeis, East Boston, Hyde Park, and Roslindale.

Brighton won two games, lost four games, and tied one.

To the Brighton hockey teams of future years, go our best wishes for a greater success—but win or lose, we know they will always, in the future as in the past, show the qualities of sportsmanship and fair play for which Brighton High has ever been noted.

RICHARD GLANCY, Captain

Track

Coach Murphy's track team of 1946, due to their school spirit, captured a second place in District competition, trailing only powerful East Boston.

Prominent place winners were Kenny Gillis, winner of the C-220, Joe Patrice, runner-up in the furlong, Art Oberton, second in the 1000, and Paul Burns, victor in the D high jump.

The class C relay, composed of Kenny Gillis, Ed Tyler, Art Norris, and Joe Patrice, had an easy time breaking the tape first.

In the Regimentals, Gillis won his specialty and Burns high-jumped to a third. The C relay took number 2 spot.

The Greater Boston meet furnished a chance for Bert Davidson to gain second place in the 600.

Other point winners throughout the regular season were: Captain Art Dunbar, Paul Wendler, and Bill Greene in the AB dash, Joe Hamelburg in the hurdles, Bob Fuller in the C-440, Pete Cavanaugh and Bob Sullivan in the A-B quarter, George Svenningsen and Bob Supitkowsky in the 300, Bob Finley and Evan Neuhoff in the 600.

With high hopes for the mercurymen of the '47 squad, the tracksters of this year wish those of future years the fame and success that they have enjoyed.

Evan Neuhoff

Baseball

The baseball team of 1946 was a hardworking, cooperative unit, composed of ten seasoned veterans and a hustling group of newcomers.

Returning lettermen were outfielders Jim McDonough, Bob Nicholls, and Fred Dunlap; infielders, Al Finley, Jerry Hachadourian, and Evan Neuhoff; catchers, Bob Foley, and Jerry Gentilucci, and pitchers Bob McLaughlin and Bill Greene.

Others with experience included Pete Cavanaugh, Fred Olsen, Bob Foster, and Art Norris.

With the able guidance of Coach Murphy and valuable assistance of Mr. Burnham, the demon-diamonds combined expert skill and determined spirit to emerge victorious in several contests.

It was not a championship team but it was one worthy of much commendation as clever base running and skillful clutch hitting paved the way to many a victory.

Reward enough was the fact that we developed a true sense of sportsmanship and fair play.

EVAN NEUHOFF, Captain

Basketball

The Brighton High basketball team started its practice early in December. With only a small squad, Coach Fuller lacked the depth needed for a championship team. Undaunted, Mr. Fuller went to work and fashioned a team about a nucleus of returning players.

With high hopes, we awaited our first game. It was with bitter disappointment that we lost it by one basket. During the course of the season, other games were lost by very close scores so that the final record of 14-1 was not a true indication of Brighton's ability.

The team was hard hit in the middle of the season by the loss of several varsity players. This was a hard blow that slowed the attack of the team at a most critical time.

The first team consisted of Pete Anastasia, Sam Cohen, Phil Bognanni, Bob Nicholls, Al Choiniere, Fred Olsen, Dick Lyman, John Berardi, Renny Romano, and Howard Miskin. The team was fortunate in having Ralph Dunn as a manager.

Al Choiniere led the team in the amount of points scored with 155 points to his credit. Second highest was hustling Bob Nicholls.

Under the coaching of Mr. Fuller, and with the spirit that is always Brighton's, we of the 1946 team know that next season's team will be up in front with the leaders.

To Our Advertisers

We, the members of the senior class, wish to extend a note of sincere gratitude, appreciation, and thanks to those loyal persons who through their advertisements have made possible the production of such a splendid yearbook. We are forever indebted to them, we are forever friendly towards them, we are forever loyal to them, and we shall not forget them. Their cooperation has made our work a pleasure, and our success has proved our integrity.

Appreciation must also be expressed to Mr. Walter J. Kelliher for his excellent keeping of the funds. Mr. Kelliher, our faculty adviser, has been an inspiration and a friend in the vortex of school life.
